

Customized-Supported Employment Training

Tina.Dortch@rehab.alabama.gov

April 14—16, 2021

Byron.white@mh.alabama.gov

This 3-day certificate-based training is for professionals and paraprofessionals that assist individuals in their quest to obtain competitive, integrated employment. The training will address components of customized/supported employment. Consultants from Virginia Commonwealth University are the lead presenters. Typical attendees work for supported employment agencies funded by either the Alabama Department of Mental Health or the Alabama Department of Rehabilitation Services, support coordination agencies, Project SEARCH programs, etc. The training requires no registration fee and those that have attended in the past should not register as space is limited.

Due to the current pandemic, training locations will be available in all five ADMH regions. Those interested in attending should register at the location nearest their base. CDC Guidelines will be followed. Participants will be socially distanced and must wear face coverings. Each training site will be equipped with a zoom connection and the trainers will be live from Richmond, Virginia. Moderators will assist at each location and monitor attendance, assist with training activities, field questions, etc.
